AUTHOR INDEX

Personal and corporate authors are cited alphabetically in this section. All authors of a given work are included in their proper alphabetical sequence, along with the other bibliographical data. At the end of each entry in this section, the appropriate subject class and/or chapter in Section I is shown.

Personal family names are given in full. Where two or more given names for one personal author are known, these are cited by initials only. Where only one given name for one personal author is known, it is cited in full.

In general, both family and given names for African, Asian, and Latin American authors are given in full.

Various corporate author entries are shown in abbreviated forms in this section. These are identified in full in section IV, Table 3.

SECTION III

CONTRACT INDEX

This section arranges all citations, enumerated in Section I under descriptors, by issuing source, e.g., by contract, grant, A.I.D. office, or academic consortium. Approximately 300 issuing units are cited in this catalogue.

The index is arranged in serial sequence, using numerical elements contained in each contract and/or grant symbol. At the end a brief section of acronyms is given in alphabetical sequence for issuing sources not working under contracts/grants.

In parentheses following each contract or grant symbol, the responsible organization is indicated in abbreviated form. Abbreviations are identified by name and address in Section IV, Table 3.

It is useful here to note briefly the nature of A.I.D. contracts and grants responsible for production of most of the information cited in Sections I-III.

Two types of contracts are involved: research contracts and general technical services contracts.

Research contracts undertake to solve specific developmental problems through production of new knowledge, new techniques, or new approaches. For example, developing new strains of major cereal crops which contain improved protein contents, or developing new instructional technologies through which expanded and equitable educational opportunity may be achieved.

General technical services contracts undertake to provide a range of specified services to A.I.D.—for example, surveys of aquaculture needs and potentials of given areas, development of health delivery systems in rural areas.

As both types of contract operations progress, reports, findings, research summaries emerge; and it is essentially these informational outputs this catalogue arranges and cites in order to facilitate their use.

Grant programs, in contrast, aim to develop broad subject competencies in U.S. academic institutions so that they can serve as resources and sources of leadership in developmental problem-solving. Competencies of interest and concern to A.I.D. cover all subject areas included in its mandate, ranging inter alia from agricultural economics to livestock planning; and from technical assistance methodology to small-scale industrial development.

Activities undertaken under grants result in theses and dissertations, monographs, discussion papers, literature reviews, state-of-the-art studies, papers delivered before international conferences and professional associations, and other kinds of informational outputs. These are cited in this catalogue along with more standard types of R&D reports generated under the contracts noted above.

BLANK PAGE

Non-Geographic Descriptors Used in the Catalogue, Section 1, Volumes 1 and 2

This alphabetical table of descriptors is a guide to the subject analyses of materials cited in Section I. An average of four descriptors per title has been used to make these materials as accessible as possible.

For example, Latin American Tables of Feed Composition produced by W. C. Christiansen et al. (PN-AAA-100) at the University of Florida, has been placed in the chapter entitled: Agriculture — Animal nutrition — Latin America (AL30). Within that section, the work is cited under each of the following descriptors: feeding stuffs, Latin America, and Data.

Within various subject chapters of Section I, parts of specific descriptors may be implicit in the chapter title itself, and thus an "abbreviated" form of the descriptor has been used. For example, in the chapter on Soil biology (AF21), only the descriptor microbiology, rather than soil microbiology, appears.

The symbol UF in the following tables means used for; e.g., management is used for administration, etc.

Names and Addresses of Contractors and Grantees and Other Issuing Units Cited in the Catalogue

All citations in Sections 1-3 of this Catalogue show the contractor, grantee, or other issuing unit, responsible for the work, by use of an abbreviation, i.e. ATAC, WIS., AID/TA/AGR.CUSURDI, et cetera. The following table fully identifies these abbreviations, giving organizational names, addresses, contract or grant symbols for each, a brief note on the purpose of the contract or grant, and the time period in which activity was funded by A.I.D.

The table is arranged alphabetically by the abbreviation sequence. This provides, in effect, an alphabetical directory of institutions. Where more than one contract and/or grant has been awarded to a given institution, individual projects are given in numerical order by the various contract and/or grant symbols. Where several organizational units in one institution have been involved, these are also identified and distinguished.

Recurrent designations after contract and grants symbols — GTS, Res., and 211(d) — signify the kinds of A.I.D. funding used, as follows:

General Technical Services contracts — GTS

Research contracts — Res.

Competency grants supported under Section 211(d), Title II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1966 as amended — 211(d)

Unless name of country is explicitly given in addresses, the institutions are located in the United States.
